

IPFA Training

Course Instructor

Geoff Haley

Geoff is the founder and chairman of IPFA, the largest independent not for profit project finance trade association in the world. He is a Solicitor with an LLB from University of London, an MBA from Henley Business School and a Diploma in Marketing from the Chartered Institute of Marketing. Originally a construction lawyer, he has specialised in project finance and Public Private Partnerships since 1985. He has specialist experience in large and complex projects in transportation, energy, water treatment, healthcare and education. Projects include Channel Tunnel, Channel Tunnel Rail Link, DBFO Roads, PFI government hospitals and accommodation; overseas projects in Dubai, Jordan, West Africa, Ukraine, Georgia,

China and US. He lectures extensively on project finance and designs and delivers a range of training courses for governments, public sector bodies and private companies.

Training Courses:

Introduction to Project Finance

Understanding International Project Finance

APMG Public-Private Partnerships (PPP) Certification